Progress Noted In Mokena Church Survey Plan

The survey is coming along in fine shape. During this week each church is spotting its membership on a base map of Mokena and the surrounding territory. The following persons are doing the spotting: In the interval while they are waiting for their new pastor Rev. Mr. Roesener is supplying the pulpit and locating the homes of the Lutheran members. George Marti is locating the Catholic homes in the community. The Rev. G. G. Bratzel is finding the map helpful in determining the residence of his membership in St. John's Evangelical church. Rev. Harold Sandall is placing the Methodist membership. Saturday afternoon at about 2:30 Mokena will be visited by Dr. Hutchinson of the survey department of the Chicago Theological School, Dr. Aldrich of the sociology department of the Chicago University and a representative of the Chicago Community Commission. These men are spending the day touring the suburbs lying along the Rock Island. They are interested not only in the church development, but also in the general future development of these communities. Any one who is interested in meeting these men and questioning them concerning the prospects of suburban growth, would do well to see them Saturday afternoon.

Mokena Basketball Teams Winners

Mokena has two excellent basketball teams, the heavies and the lights both being the local public school teams and they have rolled up some dandy scores of late. Most of the games are played in the gymnasium of the new school.

In addition Mokena has a heavy and light weight independent team. They have played the following:

Sunday, January 26 the Mokena Lights defeated the fast Midlothian five by a score of 30-29. In the second game the Mokena Heavies took the fast Montgomery Ward's for a 26-21 trimming.

Tuesday night the Mokena teams went to Matteson and took another double header. The Lights won by a score of 26-19 and the Heavies nosed out a 26-25 win.

Up to date the Heavies have a record of 6 victories and 3 defeats, while the Lights have won 4 and lost 5 games.

Thursday the Lockport High school Midgets defeated the Mokena grade school 22-6 and Lockport defeated Mokena high school 37-8. The Lockport team previously defeated the Calumet team 35-14 and our boys gave Lockport a good fight. Next Friday night the Mokena High School will play Fairmont Grade School.

Dates for forthcoming games are as follows:

Sunday, Feb. 2—Schwartz's A C. Tues. Feb. 4—E. J. & E. Sun. Feb. 9—Masters Shoe Co. Tues. Feb. 11—Matteson Sun. Feb. 16—West Park A. C. Tues. Feb. 18—Steger at Steger. All of these teams are very fast teams. Most of them have only a few defeats chalked against them.

SNOWFLAGES
Whenever a snowflake leaves the sky,
It turns and turns to say
Good-By!
Good-by, dear clouds, cool and gray!
Then lightly travels on its way.
And when a snowflake finds a tree,
"Good-day" it says, "Good-day to thee!
Thou art so bare and lonely,
dear,
I'll rest and call my comrades here."

How shall I proceed in each instance? 3. How may I teach my child to share? 4. What about the child that gives away to much? 5. How shall I treat the big bully who is my child? The big bully who is my neighbors child? 6. How may I induce my children to play with children about their own age? 7. How may I make my home attractive to my children's playmate? 8. How may I hold my children up to the standards higher than the standards to which their playmates are held up? 9. What happens when our children have more toys, more money to spend, and better clothes to wear than their comrades have? 10. How may we help our children choose their playmate?

Mokena to Consider $70,000 Sanitary Sewer Project

The matter of a sanitary sewer system came up for discussion before the Mokena Local Board of Improvements Wednesday night. The village engineers were represented by Mr. Cathers who submitted suggestions and approximate figures for a sanitary sewer system for Mokena, the plan taking in two streets on the south Mr. Cathers advised that the state will not issue a permit for a primary treating plant as had been planned for last summer, but that a secondary treating plant will have to be used. The tentative estimate of the cost of the proposed system is about $70,000. The rate per running foot would be about $2.50. These figures are only tentative and subject to revision. The board instructed Mr. Cathers to secure further data and complete figures for presentation before the board at their meeting in February.

Marley Man Sculptors Horse From Snow

Marley has a curiosity the past few weeks which has attracted quite a number of people to that fair village. The big attraction has been a wonderful piece of sculptor work done in snow by C. F. Haley, a well known resident of Marley. Mr. Haley sculptured a live sized horse out of snow. A harness has been placed on the snow horse and the horse has been made to appear as hitched to a real buggy. The snow equine stands about five feet tall.

Mr. Haley has also sculptured a live size pig with a litter of little pigs. Mr. Haley has displayed fine talent in his snow sculpturing and it is too bad that his art is not more enduring for as soon as warmer weather sets in his sculpturing will disappear in water.

Club Women Hold Meeting

Combs of Tinley Park is the chairman, met for the regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Rehbein, 7201 Prairie ave., Chicago Monday Jan. 20. Following the box luncheon at noon, an illustrated lecture on "Wild Flowers" by Mrs. Mildred Andrews was keenly enjoyed. Then Mrs. Combs gave a demonstration on "Bud and Bark" cuttings from her home grounds. Last month it was cuttings from hedges, barberry, etc., while this meeting the forced branches were from shrubbery. In February, the demonstrations will be cuttings from the orchard. The February meeting will be with Mrs. D. Garen, 7748 Sangamon street, Chicago when Rock and water gardens will be demonstrated by an expert landscape gardener. Miniature gardens will be displayed. The honored guests were Mrs. Fred Waterman, president of the Hamilton Park Woman's Club and Mrs. Walter Seymour, General Federation director.

Frankfort Twp. May Use Caucus Again

Frankfort township has a rather interesting political question to solve. For many years the town ticket was made up at a town caucus. Two years ago the caucus was abolished by popular vote of the voters. Since the caucus has been done away with the town ticket will have to be elected by the candidates filing petitions. Here is where the rub is coming in. Only one candidate for each office to be filled can file on either the Republican and Peoples tickets. If party lines are wiped out and the by petition ballot adopted as used in Cook county then as many candidates can file for each office as wish to and their names all appear on the ballot and those receiving the highest number of votes are declared elected. Attorney A. H. Krusemark who is also precinct committeeman for Frankfort has been asked to obtain all the legal facts on the question with a view of re-instating the old caucus system of nominating a town ticket as Frankfort township does not want to drop party politics.

R. I. Commuter Fares to be Cut

Beware of Endless Chain Letter

Chain Letter

The old endless chain letter gag is again making the rounds with a few variations. The timid souls will believe in it and waste their time in copying the letter and postage in sending it. Here is the latest form of this time worn gag now making the rounds:

"The good luck chain of Flanders was sent me by some one and I am sending it to you that the chain may not be broken. Copy and send it in 24 hours to some one you wish good luck. This chain was started by an American in Flanders and is going around the world three times. The one breaking this chain will have bad luck. It's wonderful how this chain has brought good luck to people. Copy and notice what happens in 24 days. It's going to bring you good luck. Mail this and four others. Don't keep."

If you receive letters like this throw them in the waste basket.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

ALTHOUGH, as Secretary Stanton, standing at the bedside of the dying Lincoln exclaimed, "Now he belongs to the ages," three states have always taken particular pride in claiming as their own the great American whose birthday we celebrate on February 12. Kentucky gave him birth; Indiana nurtured him in his boyhood and witnessed the first tragedy in the life of this man of sorrows; Illinois gave him to the nation and in her rich soil laid his weary body to rest when his work was done.

Now, thanks to the researches of an indefatigable Lincoln scholar, at least five other states may lay claim to having contributed something to the greatness that was Abraham Lincoln—if heredity may be regarded as the prime factor in evaluating the greatness of a man. One of them is Massachusetts, another is New Jersey, another Pennsylvania, another West Virginia and the last—and herein lies another example of the eternal fitness of things—is that "Mother of Presidents," the commonwealth of Virginia. The scholar who has brought to light the facts which justify the above statements is William E. Barton, who in his book "The Lineage of Lincoln," published by the Bobbs-Merrill company, apparently has revealed all that is ever likely to be known about the forebears of Abraham Lincoln.

In his foreword Barton states that "This quest has carried me three times across the ocean and has sent me to innumerable courthouses in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois." In the latter places he was working in virgin historical soil and amid the dusty crumbling old documents which he unearthed, he established for the first time the complete record, so far as it seems likely ever to be complete, of Lincoln's maternal ancestors, the Hankses. The story of the Great Emancipator's paternal ancestors, the Lincolns, has been told before, but Barton's investigations have added to, and in some cases, corrected some minor errors made by previous workers in that field.

It is in tracing the Hanks ancestral lines; however, that Doctor Barton's work has been so outstanding. "For two hundred years, from their first landing in Virginia, no member of the Hanks family, in the ancestral line of Abraham Lincoln, made one known scratch of the pen to aid the genealogist, and the public records are almost incredibly scarce," says Doctor Barton. "Not only so, but wars from Bacon's rebellion to the Civil war have wiped out completely the records of some counties where our need was greatest.

Compared to all these difficulties, the tracing of the paternal Lincoln line has been comparatively easy. The name of Lincoln goes back to in its earliest form to the days of Roman occupation of England. Lindum was a Roman colony established about 86 A. D. Through the successive modifications of Lindum-Colonia, Lindum-colony, Lindelcon and Lindcoln the place name of Lincoln finally emerged. So there was a city of Lincoln in Lincolnshire and since in the early days surnames indicated where a man lived, there came into being families of Lincolns. The first recorded use of Lincoln as a family name appears in the Domesday Book in 1086. Alfred de Lincoln (i. e., "Alfred who comes from the county of Lincoln") was a Saxon by birth, but his lands were saved from confiscation by his marriage to a Norman woman.

Although the name of Lincoln originated in Lincolnshire, it was from Norfolk that the first Lincolns came to America. Abraham Lincoln's great-great-great-grandfather was Samuel Lincoln, who was born in Hingham, Norfolk, in 1619, emigrated to Massachusetts in 1637 and died in Hingham, Mass., in 1690. From this original immigrant seven Lincolns in direct line to Abraham, the President, can be traced. It is in tracing this line that three states, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Virginia, get their claim to the immortal Lincoln. The tracing of this line is also a striking commentary on the migratory habits of the pioneer stock from which Abraham Lincoln sprang. For not one of the seven died in the same town in which he was born and only one in the same state. They are the following:

- I Samuel Lincoln.
 - II Mordecai Lincoln, Sr., was born in Hingham, Mass., in 1637 and died in Scituate, Mass., in 1727.
 - III Mordecai Lincoln, Jr., was born in Scituate, Mass., April 24, 1686, and after a residence in New Jersey died in Berks county, Pa., in 1736.
 - IV John Lincoln was born in Berks county, Pa., in 1716 and died in Virginia in 1788.
 - V Capt. Abraham Lincoln was born in Virginia in 1744 and died in Kentucky in 1786.
 - VI Thomas Lincoln was born in Virginia in 1778 and died in Illinois in 1851.
 - VII Abraham Lincoln was born in Kentucky in 1809 and died in Washington in 1865.
- The maternal line of Abraham Lincoln, the Hankses, also trace back to England, and antedate the Lincolns by many years. In his investigations, Doctor Barton found innumerable Hankses as far back as the reign of King Athelstan and before. . . . Athelstan died in 941, more than a century before William the Conqueror and his Normans invaded England and subjected the Saxons to their rule. Thus, too, there were Hankses recorded in history before the name of Alfred de Lincoln was written in the Domesday Book.

The Hankses were Malmesbury men. There was fighting in that part of England during the English Civil war and it was as a result of this that the first Hanks came to America. He was Thomas Hanks who was one of 27 persons deported from England in 1654 as a punishment which was being inflicted on Cromwell's men who were captured by the Royalists. Thomas Hanks became an important landholder in what is now Gloucester county, Virginia. The most that we know about him is through various land purchases but his name disappears from history after the Indian uprising of 1675 and the Bacon rebellion of 1676. But in 1697 the name of William Hanks appears in Richmond county. There is every reason to believe that he was the son of Thomas Hanks and from him the maternal ancestry of Abraham Lincoln is traced. That line reads as follows:

- I Thomas Hanks.
- II William Hanks. Born probably in Gloucester county, Virginia, about 1655. Died in Richmond county in 1704.
- III John Hanks. Born in North Farnham parish in Richmond county, date unknown, and died in 1740.
- IV Joseph Hanks. Born in North Farnham parish, December 20, 1725. Died in Nelson county, Kentucky in 1793.
- V Lucy Hanks. Born probably in 1706 in Richmond county, Virginia, and died in 1825 (?)
- VI Nancy Hanks. Born in Mineral county, West Virginia in 1783. Died in Spencer county, Indiana, October 5, 1818.
- VII Abraham Lincoln.

It will be noted that the place of Nancy Hanks' birth was given as Mineral county, W. Va. It was not known by that name in 1783 for it was then Hampshire county of Virginia, but during the Civil war the western part of the Old Dominion became a separate state and thus another state is added to the roll of those which have a particular claim upon Abraham Lincoln. Joseph Hanks and his family had moved from Richmond county to Hampshire county some time before 1782. In March, 1784, that family again migrated, this time to Kentucky where Nancy Hanks was to meet Thomas Lincoln, marry him in Washington county, June 12, 1806, and then on that February day 121 years ago give birth to the boy whose name was to become world famous.

But the fact that Massachusetts, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia have joined Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois in the list of states closely connected with the career of Abraham Lincoln is not the only revelation in the new Barton book. More interesting still is the fact that the two outstanding leaders in the Civil war were relatives. In one of his chapter headings Barton makes the startling statement "Lincoln was a Lee" and in that chapter proves that both Abraham Lincoln, by virtue of his office as President, commander in chief of the Union forces, and Robert E. Lee, the great battle leader of the Confederate forces, trace back—Lincoln through the maternal line and Lee through the paternal line—to a common ancestor, Col. Richard Lee.

Col. Richard Lee and his wife Anna arrived in Virginia in 1642, an event which "marked the beginning of the authentic Lee history in the Old Dominion." The second son of Richard and Anna was also named Richard. The fifth son of this Richard was Henry Lee, and the third son of this Henry was the Lieut. Col. Henry Lee, who married the Lucy Grymes who according to the story was "the Lowland Beauty" of Washington's early life. The second child and oldest son of Lieut. Col. Lee was Maj. Gen. Henry Lee, who bestowed upon Washington the famous encomium "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." And the fourth son of General Lee was Robert E. Lee, of Arlington and Appomattox.

"And now, before we introduce the Hanks family into this narrative, it is time for us to take a lesson in geography," says Doctor Barton. And he gives that lesson thus:

When Colonel Richard Lee established his home in Virginia in 1642, there were but eight counties in that commonwealth and he lived in the County of York. That county was subsequently divided and redivided and subdivided. Before Colonel Lee died, his estate, which he called Paradise, was located in Gloucester county, on the borders of New Kent, later the home of Martha Custis Washington. Gloucester was then the richest and most populous county in Virginia and was in the peninsula formed by the York river on the south and the Rappahannock on the north. His neighbors may be presumed to have varied in quality, but if Virginia had an aristocracy in that day, Gloucester county was the center of it, and some of his friends were among the most noted men in Virginia.

We are already aware that Thomas Hanks was at least twenty-one years a resident of this Gloucester region. And now we discover that, as his holdings widened and his boundaries followed the lines of other planters, two of his patents grant him land adjoining the estate of Colonel Lee! This was none other than Colonel Richard Lee, progenitor of the Lee family, and ancestor of Robert E. Lee! That belligerent old royalist, foremost in Virginia in support of Charles I, and one of the first to hail Charles II as the lawful sovereign of England, lived for many years a near neighbor of Thomas Hanks! The loyalist ancestor of Robert E. Lee and the rebel ancestor of Abraham Lincoln were next-plantation neighbors in Gloucester county!

Furthermore, when Bacon's rebellion was over, and the Hanks family moved across the Rappahannock, so did the Lees. And as Thomas Hanks had long lived neighbor to Colonel Richard Lee on the south shore of the Rappahannock, their children in successive generations lived neighbors on the north shore of the same stream. The Lees established their abiding place at a plantation which they named Stratford, and the Hankses, intermarrying with the Woodbridge family, whose plantation occupied the site of an old Indian village not far away, lived for a hundred years with Lees on three sides of them.

It was only natural, therefore, that sometime there would be intermarriage of the two families. And that is exactly what took place. The original Richard Lee had seven sons, and one of these had a son named William who married a Dorothy Taylor, the daughter of an Elizabeth Taylor who lived to a great age. William and Dorothy in their turn had a son whom they named William, and Elizabeth Taylor made this son, who would be her grandson, the executor of her will, dated 1747. The executor took his time, and at his death in 1764 he had not completed the settlement of his grandmother's estate.

When his own affairs were adjusted balances were found to be due to four of his children under the will of Elizabeth Taylor. But two of these children by that time had passed away, and their balances were awarded to their surviving husbands, of whom one was Thomas Hanks and the other Joseph Hanks. The inheritances amounted in the one case to £9, and in the other to £2. The records contain the Taylor will and the settlement of the estate of this William Lee, and from these records Doctor Barton got his start in this quest. Thomas Hanks is shown to have married Betsey Lee, and Joseph Hanks became the husband of Ann Lee. Joseph and Ann had a daughter Lucy, who became the mother of Nancy Hanks, the mother of Abraham Lincoln.

Thus Robert E. Lee, born in Virginia in 1870, is shown to have descended from one of the seven sons of Col. Richard Lee of 1642; there were four intervening generations, "rather wide apart," says Doctor Barton, because in several instances the descent was through younger sons. Abraham Lincoln, born in Kentucky in 1809, is traced back to the same Col. Richard Lee through another of his seven sons, but this time there were six intervening generations.

"In establishing the descent of Abraham Lincoln from the illustrious families of Lee, Woodridge, Taylor and the rest, we practically assured ourselves of his descent also from such intimately related families as the Wormsleys, the Carters, the Corbins and 'the others,'" Doctor Barton continues. "Abraham Lincoln sprang from the loins of the common people through 'second' or 'undistinguished' families (Lincoln's own words), but they were not disreputable families and in his veins was some of the bluest blood of the First Families of Virginia.

"Robert E. Lee was born January 19, 1807. His father was the brilliant and improvident 'Light Horse Harry.' His mother was of the proud stock of 'King Carter.' Little more than two years later, on February 12, 1809, in Kentucky, late a county of Virginia, in a log cabin, Abraham Lincoln was born. His father was the good-natured and almost impecunious Tom Lincoln, and his mother was the gentle and intelligent Nancy Hanks. All these were native Virginians.

"These two men present contrasts enough, but both were intellectual, both had unusual ability, both were men of magnanimity, who emerged from a cruel war without hatred, and who sought the welfare of a reunited country. Both were men of great heart and unsullied honor. Both were Virginians, and both belong to the whole of America. Both North and South should be proud to know that these two great and noble Americans were kinsmen."

There is another interesting bit of history which Doctor Barton uncovered in his researches in the Hanks ancestry. "We think of the Puritans of New England as far removed from the Cavaliers of Virginia," he says, "but how many of us know that a few of those same Puritans went south and mingled their blood with that of the first families of Virginia. Perhaps, if we knew all the maternal lines, we should find that both Robert E. Lee and Abraham Lincoln were Mayflower descendants."

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

"Always in Good Humor" says Bill "and my Folks, too"

YOUNG BILL FREEMAN, JR., of 707 South Street, Key West, Florida, has started in early telling the world his secret of health. "I don't know that I would have been the cause of divorce," writes Bill, through his mother, "but certainly the first three months of my life my mother was a nervous wreck, and so was I. I never saw father because he didn't like my disposition—and every day it was a fight at our house—either castor oil or an enema, and I was just about ready to quit home."

"Finally, they started in giving me a half teaspoonful of Nujol night and morning. I am five months old now, and I take Nujol every other night, which keeps me so well regulated that I am always in good humor, and so are my folks."

How simple it is, after all. No drugs, no medicines, no irritating cathartics. Just simple and natural lubrication which our bodies need as much as any machine. Nujol is not absorbed by the body. It is non-fattening; it can form no habit; it cannot hurt the smallest baby. What it does is keep our bodies internally clean of the poisons we all have and which, unless they are swept away as regularly as clock work, give us headaches, make us feel sick, low in our minds, blue, down on the world.

Nujol is as tasteless and colorless as pure water. Start this very night and see how different you will feel

With millions of people all over the world keeping well with Nujol there is no reason why you, too, should not be joyous, full of pep, with the happiness that comes of good health. Various changes aimed at relieving traffic congestion within the state fair grounds are being contemplated by fair officials. Among them are the removal of "Happy Hollow" from its site just inside the main gates to a location not yet fixed. The present location has resulted in a great deal of congestion just within the gates, officials say.

Tentative plans include the moving of the game preserve to the place previously occupied by the midway shows. Deer Park, along the south edge of the grounds, almost escapes the notice of visitors to the fair, it is said.

A parking place for automobiles and trucks of concessionaires will be provided, and they will not be permitted to park at their stands or tents. It is believed that this will aid in relieving traffic congestion.

The construction program will include the erection of a new woman's building, and a large exhibition hall to house the automobile show and other exhibits. Present plans call for a one-story hall of hollow tile surfaced with stucco, in the neighborhood of the old dome building site.

Governor Emmerson has instructed Clarence F. Buck, director of agriculture, Homer J. Tice, president of the state fair advisory board, and Milton E. Jones, general manager of the fair, to lose no time in getting the building program under way. When estimates are received from State Architect C. Herrick Hammond, the final decisions on this year's work will be made.

Probably of major interest among program changes is the fact that there will be no automobile races. Horse races will feature the racing program on the two Saturdays.

Bonding of all banks handling state deposits is a feature of a new plan of handling remittances to the state, recently put into operation by Secretary of State William J. Stratton. Under this plan remittances from Chicago are deposited daily in responsible Chicago banks and downstate remittances in downstate banks. Interest is paid on these deposits by the banks handling them.

Secretary Stratton had three objects in view in the adoption of this plan: First, that full protection through a surety bond was afforded the state's funds while in his possession; second, that as a matter of good business policy the moneys received from the people of Chicago should be cleared through Chicago banks and the moneys received from downstate should be cleared through downstate banks; third, that all banks having the benefit of deposits of state funds should pay interest on them in proportion to the value of such deposits to them.

Headlines and news pages from the Illinois State Journal (Springfield) of before Civil war times dealing with the Lincoln and Douglas debates, Lincoln's nomination and election and other incidents of great interest to central Illinois residents will probably be reproduced in D. W. Griffith's great motion picture play, "Abraham Lincoln."

Stephen Vincent Benet is preparing the script for the production. Mr. Griffith has read exhaustively from the records of contemporary and current writers and is said to possess as true a picture of the Springfield Lincoln as it is possible to get from such sources. Production will start within the next few weeks, with June 1 as the probable release date. Walter Huston, prominent stage and screen actor, will take the role of Lincoln.

On the ground that the state is not liable for negligence on the part of its employees, the court of claims recently dismissed the claim of Edwin J. Kershaw, Chicago, who sought $4,160 for damages to his airplane. Kershaw asked the amount for damages and loss of time because a plane owned and operated by the Illinois National Guard collided with his plane at the Municipal airport, Chicago.

The claim was said to be the first growing out of an airplane accident. The court in addition to holding the state was not liable for alleged negligence on the part of its employees, said that if there was negligence, the employees and not the state could be held accountable.

Dr. Thomas H. Leonard, assistant director of the state department of health for more than eight years, has resigned his position to take up similar work in California February 1. Doctor Leonard's resignation, which was presented voluntarily to Governor Emmerson, ends about 15 years' work for the state of Illinois, 7 of which were spent as managing officer of the Lincoln State School and Colony.

Attorney General Oscar T. Carlstrom has returned from Washington, where he represented the state of Illinois in the recent conference with President Hoover relative to securing federal aid for completing the Illinois waterway. He feels confident that the way is cleared for its completion.

"It seems that we have solved the waterway problem," Attorney General Carlstrom said. "The $7,500,000 for the completion of the waterway will be provided for in bills and we are confident that the measure will be approved by congress."

The question of the validity of the 1929 gas tax act reached the Supreme court with the filing of transcript of evidence by attorney for the McHenry County Oil company, located at Woodstock.

Although the McHenry county case involves only $750,17 in collections made last August, and turned over to the state finance department in September, the firm's action in filing the appeal ties up several million dollars collected since the 1929 tax went into effect last August 1. The money will remain tied up until the Supreme court decides the case, which will come at the end of the April term, or a later term.

No part of the 1929 gas tax collections has yet reached the treasury. It is held by the state department of finance in consequence of the injunctions attacking the validity of the new law.

The pending litigation affecting collections under the 1927 gas tax law is again in the Circuit court by reason of a decision of the State Supreme court which reversed and remanded an opinion delivered by Judge Charles G. Briggie. The Circuit court held that the companies were entitled to recover such of the money as had been paid under protest. The Supreme court opinion denied that the companies were entitled to the money. There is in the state treasury approximately $6,000,000 of the gas tax collected under the law of 1927, which will be released by the final determination of this litigation.

First steps to provide an Illinois memorial to Abraham Lincoln were taken recently when the Lincoln Memorial commission held its organization meeting in Gov. Louis L. Emmerson's office. Logan Hay of Springfield, president of the Abraham Lincoln association, was named chairman of the state commission appointed by Governor Emmerson. Paul Angle, Springfield, was named secretary by Chairman Hay.

A committee of seven members was named to receive and consider suggestions from the commissioners and all other interested persons.

"Each commissioner will put his plan, not to exceed 500 words, on paper and submit it to the committee of seven," said Chairman Hay. "We are anxious to receive plans from the public also, and all proposals will be considered at the next meeting to be held in Springfield, April 15."

The resolution under which the committee was appointed was introduced at the last session of the general assembly by Representative Homer Tice of Greenville.

The members are: Logan Hay, Springfield; Louis A. Mills, Decatur; J. B. Oakleaf, Moline; Miss Florence Lowden, Oregon; Miss Edie Landen, Cairo; Probate Judge Henry Horner, Chicago; John W. Fling, Jr., Wyoming; Elbert Waller, Tamaroa; J. R. Jackson, Freeport; Senator Adelbert H. Roberts, Chicago; Robert S. Abbott, Chicago; Senator Louis H. Hanna, Monmouth; Senator Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg; Senator Henry M. Dunlap, Savoy; Senator J. LeRoy Adair, Quincy; Representative Homer J. Tice, Greenville; Representative Carl E. Robinson, Jacksonville; Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill, Downer's Grove; Representative T. J. Sullivan, Springfield, and Representative Arthur Roe, Vandalia.

As a further step in the direction of eradicating the Oriental fruit moth, Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has authorized the state department of agriculture to send a representative to Memphis, Tenn., to attend the annual meeting of the Tennessee Horticultural society, at which insect control specialists of several southern states will offer their experiences in areas infested with the moth.

Director Clarence F. Buck of the department of agriculture designated Joe W. Cummins, chief fruit inspector in the division of markets, as the Illinois representative at this meeting.

Fruit authorities in the department of agriculture say the Orient fruit moth has occasioned serious losses in the orchard sections of the state and that, thus far, effective eradication methods are lacking.

At the University of Illinois, extensive research work is under way, from which some process may be evolved for eradicating the pest.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has appointed the following to membership on the board of highway advisers in the department of public works and buildings:

E. E. Crabtree, Jacksonville; J. M. Page, Jerseyville; Richard R. Meents, Ashkum; Reed F. Cutler, Lewistown; James P. Wilson, Olney; Frank Harrison and John T. Pirie, Chicago; H. M. Dunlap, Savoy, and Henry C. Allen, Lyndon.

Governor and Mrs. Louis L. Emmerson are entertaining the ministers of Springfield and their wives at a series of dinners at the executive mansion.

A tuberculosis hospital, where all inmates of state penal institutions, who are suffering from tuberculosis, can be cared for, is to be erected at Chester at a cost of $100,000. Director Rodney Brandon, of the department of welfare, hopes that it can be completed this year. The hospital will be located on a high hill facing south above the river. Mr. Brandon said, and will be built by prison labor as far as possible. The state supervising architect, will have before him the plans for Dr. George Thomas Palmer's tuberculosis sanitarium as a guide.

His Turn

Saying grace at the table is still customary in the home of the M-s, as the following story illustrates: At a dinner recently, when the guests were seated, the host turned to the gentleman on his right and said, "Mr. B—, you will return thanks."

Billy, age five, remonstrated emphatically. "Call on me, daddy! Call on me! I haven't prayed for a week."

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

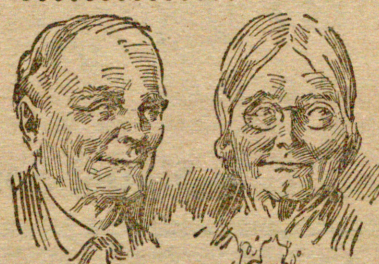

Any drug store has the genuine, prescription product.

Woman Saw Five Kings

Luigia Caselli, the oldest woman in Italy, is reported to have died at Milan at the age of 108. She was called "the grandmother of Piedmont," and lived under nine popes, from Pius VII to Pius XI, and five sovereigns. The old woman was very well preserved, and could thread a needle without glasses. She had never taken medicine in her life, and to the many who visited her she was in the habit of saying, "The good Lord has evidently lost sight of me."

OLD DOCTOR'S IDEA IS BIG HELP TO ELDERLY PEOPLE

In 1885, Dr. Caldwell made a discovery for which elderly people the world over praise him today!

Years of practice convinced him that many people were endangering their health by a careless choice of laxatives. So he began a search for a harmless prescription which would be thoroughly effective, yet would neither gripe nor form any habit. At last he found it.

Over and over he wrote it, when he found people bilious, headachy, out of sorts, weak or feverish; with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy. It relieved the most obstinate cases, and yet was gentle with women, children and elderly people.

Today, this same famous, effective prescription, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is the world's most popular laxative. It may be obtained from any drugstore.

Humor Practically Applied

"You have a fine sense of humor." "I need it," answered Senator Sorghum. "The only way I can hope to get away from certain embarrassments is by laughing them off."

Saved White Settlers

From Indian God's Wrath

The great Pacific coast would yet be a red man's playground had it not been for the intercession of Jack Woodman, an Athabaskan Indian, now a tottering old man. He recently told the story to a student who is looking up various matters of interest concerning the Indians of the Pacific coast. Jack says that tanbark is sacred, or rather was considered so, in the old times, to the god Negechu, and it was the habit of the early settlers to tear the bark from the trees and ship it away. Jack says that one day he encountered the god with fire in his eye, and he told Jack that the white men had offended him by their wanton ways in the forest, so that he said he was going to cause a great flood and wipe away all the white people on the Pacific coast. Jack says that he begged Negechu to refrain from this and explained that the whites were ignorant and did not understand what they were doing. He finally convinced the angry god of his error and appeased him in behalf of the white people so that the flood never took place.

CENTRALIZED RADIO HELPS IN TEACHING

The New Unit Takes Programs to School Rooms and to Hotel Guests.

Guests in hotels today are turning on a radio program in their rooms as easily as they switch on the electric light, pupils in schools are listening to valuable lectures given far away, and tenants in thoroughly modern apartments are connecting their receiving sets as easily as they connect their electric irons by use of one of the newest and most interesting radio developments. "Centralized radio" sprang into wide use immediately with its recent introduction by the Radio Corporation of America, whose engineers perfected it.

The reception of any one of four programs in rooms of hotels, schools, libraries, clubs, hospitals or other buildings is supplied through wall speakers no more conspicuous than a well hung picture. The programs may be heard also through separate loud speakers easily connected with a wall plate or through headphones when it is not desired that they be heard throughout the room. The development is equally interesting to the pampered guest of a huge metropolitan hotel and to pupils in isolated schoolhouses, who now can listen to educational features hitherto available only to pupils in the largest cities.

Principal of Oyster Bay, Long Island, school operating centralized radio.

This type of centralized radio, known as audio frequency, is not to be confused with the conventional radio receiver and amplifier connected with scattered loudspeakers or headphones. Reception with the new audio frequency is as perfect in every room as if an excellent radio receiving set were placed there.

The RCA audio centralized equipment takes the form of the necessary units mounted in standard switchboard fashion, one receiver with amplifying, distributing and outlet equipment constituting one channel, required for the reception and distribution of one program. As many as four channels, giving the listener a choice of any one of four programs, may be mounted on the central switchboard. The equipment is operated from the usual electric lighting circuit. The receiver for each channel is tuned to a given station and the tuning dials locked in position to prevent tinkering. A time clock switch may be set to start the programs at any designated hour and to turn them off. The centralized equipment may be placed beside the telephone switchboard, behind the desk in a hotel, in the office of a hospital superintendent, in the office of a school's principal or any place that is convenient. Phonograph records may be played in the absence of programs.

The other type of centralized radio meets the different problem of persons who desire to use their own receiving sets in apartment buildings. It is known as radio frequency and does away with the necessity for unsightly roof antennae and lead-ins on the walls of modern buildings. It is not a mere lead-in, but is strictly a radio frequency transmission line which does not pick up additional signals or interference. One efficient antenna some 50 to 75 feet above the roof takes care of all, so that tenants merely have to plug in their radio receiving sets on a wall socket. A large percentage of the best type of big apartments now are being equipped in this way.

FLEEING MAN CAUGHT BY A RADIO PICTURE

Constantino Queruben has a chance today to share a certain pride with the old crook character in Bayard Veiller's famous play, "Within the Law," in that he introduced a new era in criminal history. Veiller's character boasted that he was the first man to use a Maxim silencer in shooting his victim. Queruben was the first man captured by detectives by means of a radio photograph.

The chase after which Queruben is being taken back to New York to face charges of swindling and forgery extended over 5,500 miles and ended in Honolulu harbor. The sleepy Filipino was roused from his berth at 5 o'clock on a recent morning and identified positively by a facsimile radio photograph, taken from an original in the files of the Bureau of Information in New York Police Headquarters and projected 2,600 miles across the Pacific Ocean by the Radio Corporation of America.

HOW PREMIER MacDONALD KEEPS FIT

Ramsay MacDonald, Great Britain's labor premier, has joined American statesmen in using artificial sunshine to keep fit despite his exacting duties and a life which is unusually confining. The mystery surrounding the premier's coat of tan was dispelled recently when it was learned that he is taking a daily sun bath in the health giving rays of a sunshine lamp. The premier is following the example set by United States Senators and Representatives who for nearly a year have been using a carbon arc sunshine lamp installed by the government in the Capitol Building at Washington for their special benefit. Only recently has science enabled people to bask in the health giving rays of summer sunshine even in mid-winter. The reproduction of the entire sun spectrum by artificial means is accomplished by burning specially impregnated carbons with an electric current in the form of an arc. The resulting light, after being tested by the United States Bureau of Standards, was declared to be the closest approximation to natural sunlight which has ever been devised. All of the rays of summer sunshine are present, including the ultra-violet, visible and infra-red, and in the approximate intensity as found in July sunlight in the temperate zone. Business Men to Make A Survey of Prohibition

Business men of the United States have launched a nation wide inquiry into the effects of prohibition with the announcement of a new movement to conduct an impartial economic survey of present industrial and welfare conditions, compared with the pre-prohibition period. This appraisal of national prohibition will be made under the direction of the American Business men's Prohibition Foundation, of which Charles R. Jones of Chicago is the president.

"The economic effects of the first ten years of national prohibition have been largely overlooked by both Wets and Drys," said Mr. Jones, in outlining this new movement to reveal the real situation. "Industrial leaders like Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison, Harvey S. Firestone, E. J. Buffington, Charles Piez, and many others recently recorded their convictions that prohibition already has proved a boon to American prosperity, basing their statements upon the facts of industrial efficiency within their own organizations and their knowledge of the standards of life of millions of employees.

"The sole aim of this Foundation is to investigate conditions as they exist and give our findings without prejudice or personal coloring to the public. They are entitled to know the real situation. Information already in our possession indicates that from $20,000,000,000 to $25,000,000,000 have been added to the people's purchasing power during the past ten years—the first decade of national prohibition.

"The Wets have ignored the economic side of this question; which shows a twenty to twenty five fold net gain to American industry and the people as a whole in millions saved yearly and other millions being diverted from wasteful liquor channels to those of substantial, constructive values, wholesome comforts, entertainment and happiness-bringing luxuries. It is our purpose to bring out these facts to enlighten the American public on the good which has resulted from prohibition."

Rations for Fighters

During the World war the German soldiers were supplied with tea and coffee without milk. Small rations of rum and arrack were furnished to troops in field and camp. These rations were given out in the evening to be mixed with the tea. Fifteen to twenty men received one bottle. In times of great physical exertion, the allowance of sugar was increased.

State Collections Are Heavy

Secretary of State William J. Stratton's office collected $21,236,401.46 in fees in 1929—the largest year's collection in the history of the office.

The total is an increase of $1,960,764.30 over the previous year. Of the grand total, the automobile department of the office collected $17,087,209.11 while other departments turned in $4,149,192.35.

All of the collections go into the state treasury to await legislative appropriation. However, the collections of the automobile department can be used only for roads while those of the other departments of the secretary of state's office go into the general revenue fund and contribute toward the reduction of taxes which otherwise would be borne by the taxpayer.

Major increases in both the automobile and corporation departments were responsible for the unusually large increase in fees during the first year of the term of Secretary of State Stratton. The increase in the automobile department resulted from an increased registration of motor vehicles. The department registered 110,419 more cars in 1929 than were registered the previous year. This resulted in a fee increase of $1,565,679.23.

The cost of administering the automobile department, including all clerk hire, postage, expressage, the purchase of plates and all overhead except rent, light and heat, amounted to only 3.6 per cent of the total fees collected, which is the lowest of any similar department in the United States.

The fee increase of the corporation department for the year 1929 was $383,563.04. During the year 6359 new domestic corporations and 991 foreign corporations were licensed to do business in Illinois. This is an increase of 301 domestic concerns and 265 corporations licensed in 1928.

In 1916 the total collections of the various departments of the secretary of state's office were $1,815,695. The 1929 collections were approximately 11 times those of 1916 and all indications point to the office continuing as an ever-increasing money raiser for the state government.

Former Editor Seeks Office of State Treasurer

Clarence F. Buck, Director of the Department of Agriculture in Governor Emmerson's cabinet, today announced his candidacy, for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer, subject to the action of the Primary election on April 8.

Mr. Buck was born and raised at Monmouth, Warren County, his parents settling in that vicinity in the early forties. He graduated from the Monmouth public school and Monmouth College, since which time he has devoted his life to farming and stock raising and assisting in the conduct of affairs of the State and National Governments.

For a number of years Mr. Buck was publisher of the Monmouth Daily Atlas. He acted as postmaster of Monmouth and Chief of the Fire Department. Served two terms in the Illinois State Senate, during which time he was the father of the Illinois State Banking law under which the banks of the State now operate. Was president of Monmouth Hospital and is now Trustee of Monmouth College.

Forest Cost Is Declared Excessive

Carrying the fight directly to the sitting County Commissioners, Axel Lonnquist, Business Men's Republican Organization's candidate for President of the County Board, this week charges that expenditures in practically all departments of the County have become overwhelmingly excessive.

Mr. Lonnquist, a resident of Wilmette, heads a complete slate of city and country town candidates in an attempt to straighten out Cook County's tangled affairs.

"Here is just one example of how much it is costing the taxpayers under the present regime," said Mr. Lonnquist. "I have obtained figures from Senator Otis F. Glenn, showing that the United States government only spends $390 per square mile for the upkeep and total expense for all purposes in our great system of National Parks. But in maintaining Cook County's Park system—which means the Forest preserves—the present County Board expends $19,180 per square mile!"

"I have always taken a major interest in the development of the suburban communities of Cook County, and if I am chosen by the people to head our County Board I shall devote my efforts to the elimination of the excessive taxes often imposed upon private residences. I believe that a person's home should not be assessed solely as a commercial proposition, because it has a social value far beyond its material worth. In other words, factories and large office buildings which are erected as an investment should really carry the load of taxation in preference to the individual home."

The Business Men's Republican Organization's ticket is now complete and headquarters have been established in the Great Northern hotel at Jackson and Dearborn streets. The candidates and other speakers will be available for suburban communities, and organizations are asked to get in touch with headquarters if they wish to have meetings in their towns.

The country town candidates beside Mr. Lonnquist now are: Mrs. Gertrude Lieber, well-known social worker of Winnetka; D. J. Brumley, Chief engineer, Illinois Central Railroad, of Flossmoor; Charles H. Miller, an official of the United States Rubber company, and a resident of Maywood, and Dr. Thomas E. Roberts of Oak Park. Dr. Roberts was the last one chosen and is widely known in the west suburban area, not only in his profession, but in his civic and philanthropic work.

Commission Lauds Public Service Co.

The electric and gas service furnished to communities served by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois ranks with the best in the state, it is disclosed in the Illinois Commerce Commission's annual public utility service ratings, released this month.

The Commission's report arranges the communities into classes, on the basis of population, to effect a more just comparison between towns. The four communities receiving the highest ratings for electric service in class A are on the lines of the Public Service Company. This is also true of the 13 highest in class B and the 14 highest in class C.

Five of the 10 communities rated highest for gas service in class A are served by the Company, as are two of the three highest in class B and seven of the eight highest in class C.

Prominent among factors considered by the Commission in grading are: continuity of service, voltage regulation (pressure regulation in grading gas service), handling of complaints, meter testing, customers attitude, provision for emergency and adequacy of capacity.

Many of the village people as well as various commuters of Bremen Township living near this village, filed tax complaints at the village hall in Tinley on the days indicated on posters posted in various business places thruout the village.

It was rumored that the books of Bremen township were to be allowed returned to the present assessor who was to place his figures therein as to the valuations of the many parcels of property in this township, but it has since then been rumored that Mr. Malone who is in charge of the re-assessment has objected to this and has ordered those assessors who have not returned their books, to do so immediately, so everyone is anxious to see the outcome of the whole thing.

Arthur Stelter who has been ill for some time is still confined to his home.

Many of the local residents attended a meeting at Blue Island on Friday evening to hear Mr. Malone, who is in charge of the re-assessment proceedings in Cook county, speak on that subject.

The regular meeting of the Lions Club was held at Andres hall Monday evening. One of the subjects brought up was that of a reduction in train fare by the Rock Island. Those interested from Tinley Park reported that the Commerce Commission had granted them a hearing and had taken a favorable attitude toward a reduction. A definite reply is expected soon.

The "Protect the Children" signs recently purchased by the club have now been received and it was definitely decided to place one at each end of the village, on Oak Park avenue, one near the Public Square near the water fountain and one south of the tracks.

The Valentine party which was to have been held, was voted down, due mostly to the various other functions being given on Feb. 14. It was also decided to have a general bulletin board for the club room.

Cash Plan

Dear Editor:

Is it fair to a loyal citizen? Is it fair to put a business on a cash basis for the sake of just a few deadbeats? Are you sure that you are holding such parties to paying cash right now?

Are you sure that the honest hard working man that will pay his debts is not the one suffering from this. Is it not the man with the doctor bills piled one after another upon him and he is working strenuously and honestly to earn the money to pay such bills to be considered?

There will be times when the hard working honest man is just a little short of cash for a few days. Is he coming to you to get his work done? No he is going to the man that will trust an honest man for a few days. That of course is where he will go when he has the cash.

Now, Mr. Dealer, you certainly should have your money its yours, it belongs to you and you earned it, and we all acknowledge that a business man is a boost to the community. But why make an honest man suffer for the deadbeat. Put the dead beat where he belongs. Work with the other guy and you will come out on the top.

Yours truly

A FRIEND
